

Imogene Quinney

December 20, 1925 - October 24, 2016

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

“ Imogene Quinney

October 04, 2023 at 01:12 PM

“ Imogene Quinney

November 08, 2022 at 06:34 PM

JS

“ My sweet Aunt Gene was a wonderful southern lady and had many many talents. She was highly educated and loved to write poetry, letters, and books. She also quilted beautifully and took great pride in her creations. I am the lucky recipient of many her amazing works. I always loved receiving a handwritten letter from Aunt Gene, it was always at least three pages long and included a well crafted poem first edition of her very own! She became even more special to me after the death of my sweet mama, her sister, three years ago. She was there for me and my family after the unexpected death of my mother, always listening and giving wise, kind words of encouragement eventhough she was mourning as well. She helped bring our family through a very dark time. I loved hearing her stories about growing up in Dayton, Alabama with my beloved mother and grandmother. She was writing my mothers life story when she passed away; family, history, and genealogy were very important to her. I have many many wonderful memories of Aunt Gene but one of my favorites is when I attended the University of Alabama. She attended night school there on Tuesday nights in a classroom very close to where I had a meeting every Tuesday. When I got out of my meeting, I would come by her classroom for a short visit before her class started. I could tell that she was the leader of the class and all her much younger classmates really liked her. She always looked so excited to see me come by each week and would introduce me to her friends in her sweet but strong southern voice. She was such a giving person, often to a fault, never asking for anything in return. I will miss my Aunt Gene and all my long chats with her but I know she is in Heaven having a grande time with my mother and grandmother, and all the other family members and proudly reciting her poem "oh by golly , oh by gee, it there an end to eternity". She was such a treasure!

I love you, I like you, and I care for you!

Jane Kendall Sikes

Jane Kendall Sikes - October 29, 2016 at 01:27 PM

LS

“ Imogene Logan Quinney was a true gem and I can say with all confidence that I have never met anyone like her. After the passing of my Grandma, which was her own beloved sister and best friend, Aunt Gene and I developed a deeper bond. We would entertain each other on long phone calls- she had such a wonderful sense of humor- and I would send her postcards from of The university of Alabama, where she attended night school for a year or two. She was a very lively and spirited woman who was very determined in her views. She would express these views in her wonderful poems, which my family and I have the pleasure of owning several copies of in her very own beautiful handwriting. Her writing was down right delightful- it made you laugh, it made you cry. She took such pride in all her writing as she should have. In fact, she wrote me my very own birthday poem just this year- she always made me feel so special. Not only that, but she also made the most beautiful quilts you'd ever seen- I was given my very own one of those treasures this year during my visit to her this summer. She was always so giving to others because she cared so much for her family but sadly many didn't appreciate her as the rare beauty that she was. God doesn't make many like her, that's for certain. I am going to miss her very, very much but I know she is now with her Heavenly Father whom she so loved.

Lucie Sikes - October 29, 2016 at 12:44 PM

LM

“ My sweet Aunt Gene was a wonderful, generous woman. I loved calling her and visiting with her and getting her wise and loving advice. She helped me through so much after my mom (her sister) died. I have so many memories of her..but I especially loved our trips together to Montgomery and New Orleans. We had so much fun talking, laughing and of course solving the world's problems as we drove. I also loved hearing her stories about her childhood and her life growing up in Marengo County with my mom... she was working so hard on a book about my mom before she died. She tried very hard to complete it and I enjoyed hearing about her progress. She loved to write stories and poems and they were always fun to read...I especially loved to hear her read them...she gave them her own special Aunt Gene punch of enthusiasm. Aunt Gene had so many gifts and talents...she made the most beautiful quilts and I cherish the one she made for me and my husband. She loved God and her country and I was so very blessed to be a part of her life. She will be missed by so many. It is comforting to know that she is now at peace with her Heavenly Father and that she has been reunited with her mom, husband, sister and brother. Lynn Kendall Merchant

Lynn Kendall Merchant - October 28, 2016 at 10:11 PM