He was a devoted husband and father who always made us laugh. He dearly loved all animals but especially his own pets. He fed the wild birds and deer that came into our yard.

Alan was loved deeply by his family, friends, neighbors, and many in our community. He will be missed by all. The physical suffering he endured is complete. Through those trials our faith was strengthened as we leaned into God’s graciousness and love daily. We are confident in the promise of eternal life which Alan had through his faith in the death of Christ for his sins.
