“ Mary ~ I never had the opportunity to meet you but I feel your spirit and how good of a person you were. So good that you married the jerk Lebanese Elie Tannous just so he could get his US Green Card and citizenship because you wanted to help everyone. You helped him but he didn't help you and if anything he added to your stress while he lived in a million dollar home and you in a mobile home. I will see Justice for you Mary If I have to through to the end. It's why the good Lord saved me because he knows “we have much work To do “ ~ Rest In Peace Beautiful

“ Mary,

To say I miss you would be the understatement of the year. I miss everything about you... the humor in your laughter from my silly jokes to the excitement in your eyes when you opened candy or slippers during the Christmas Holidays.

The little things...

If I could only hear your voice. I love you... Happy Birthday. I miss you.

“Mary was the highlight of my high school years. There's no other word to describe us - we were nerds and we loved and appreciated each other for it. We tramped through FWBHS like we were one of the cool kids and didn't even care that we weren't. We wore those dorky BFF necklaces and flew our freak flags high.

We had so many good times, riding around in the Smurfmobile, watching Grease and Stella on repeat, dancing and singing down the beach at night, working crappy fast food jobs, spending our hard earned money on the strip and smoking way too many cigarettes (and maybe the occasional under-age pina colada). When I'm a walking I strut my stuff....Let me go on...like I blister in the sun. Let me go on, big hands, I know you're the one...

Mary was the only reason I came to our 20th high school reunion. We hadn't seen each other in 20 years but we reconnected just like old times. It was like hardly a day had gone by.

I am so thankful that Mary was in my life. When I was lonely and making my way through challenging teen years, Mary taught me to love and accept myself for who I am.

I will never forget Mary and will forever be thankful for the time we had together. I love you forever Mary Woods.

“ *Mary,
From the first moment that Mom told me that I was going to be a big brother to a baby sister, I was very proud and fell in love with You, Jeff and Joey. I always did my best to stand up for you, To protect you and love you. But you made it easy. We always had a special bond and you were as much as a best friend to me as anyone ever has been. You always knew how to make me laugh and you always listened when I needed to cry. I know you aren't in pain any longer, And like you promised, You are most likely chasing Andy Gibb around and making everyone else laugh at your jokes. I'll miss you forever, I'll never forget you, And I'll always love you.
Give Mom, Dad, Elway, Baron and everyone else a big hug for me.
Love Always, Your Big Brother, Johnny (Cranberrie)*

“ Mary Woods, I know you are up in heaven telling jokes and still laughing at yourself. You had a strength that I truly admired and an ability to take things on the chin, to make it easier for those around you. Few of us have that ability.

You went through so much and maybe just decided it was time to rest...but you will be missed and remembered for what you have left so many others...God Bless you!!

“ I remember a long time ago Mary came to my parents house and brought some guy. I think he had a mustache but I don't really remember because I was younger. We had a couch that turned into a queen bed in the living room. This was my first time I think meeting her. My Mom was Sandy Ryan. Well these two people got on it that night and broke the couch bed and it had to be super embarrassing. I always remembered her as the bed breaker. Then about a year ago I finally reconnected with her and we talked all the time on facebook. She would help me with issues I was having and give advice and just talk like a normal person who is a great friend. I couldn't believe when I found out she had passed because the last I knew she was worried about my eyeball issue because I got a hole in it and she didn't mention anything about her. Sure we talked about her infections and having this cut off and infection coming back and that but never would I have figured this would happen to her. She wasn't just a cousin. She was a great friend and a great person who always looked out for others first and it's a great loss and I will miss her forever. I don't spend as much time talking to family as I should and people that are family know this. But whenever she would respond back or write me something I had the time to reply and we had a lot of great conversations in the last year and it felt like I was finally reconnecting with some good family. I don't even know what to write honestly. She was a great and caring person and I don't say that as just something nice to say because I'm a pretty huge *head. She really was great and she will be missed like something awful. I wish I could just talk to her right now but that isn't a choice. She would always end every conversation with I love you and I never responded but right now I wish I would have just once. I love you too, Mary and you are what family represents. I will always miss you and your advice and your humour. An angel gone too soon from a world ending too quickly. We need more like you around here. God bless and wreak havoc on heaven with my Mom and your Mom. Blessed be.

“ Words are not enough and never will be enough to say how much your passing hurts me...You have ALWAYS been there, no matter how much pain you were experiencing...you never judged and you were extremely cautious in giving your opinion when asked. I am so thankful to have met you and for the sisterhood that we shared...I know I will see you again some day and we will simply pick up where we left off...RIP my sweet siska...
Sadly, I won't be able to tell Davea right now about you not being here any more. Memories don't leave like people do....We love you....now and always.

“ My precious Sissy, from the moment I laid eyes on you I knew my world would be never be the same. I am so grateful for the experiences and memories we shared...for the tears of sorrow and for joy...for the silliness and laughter...for the conversations and embraces. Here again as I sit and reminisce about all of it, I'm thinking...my world will never be the same. I miss you, but I am also comforted in knowing you are now in heaven where you are joyful and free. I love you forever, Diane

“ This silly one always knew how to make everyone laugh. Some of my greatest memories are shared with this kind soul. She could light up a room no matter where she was at. The littlest things brought so much joy to her, I can still see and hear her cutting up on several different occasions. She tried to make the best of any situation. Her dog Elway, her family and friends is what brought most joy to her. She loved with a passion that's for sure. Mary was my bestest friend, and a great one at that! She will be missed dearly by many. Forever in our hearts
